Dear Mrs. Reiss:

I am very pleased to have been asked to send some jewelry pieces to the Every Day Art Gallery. Under my present working schedule I could not do much, but I have managed to send you twelve items hoping that they will get to you safely and on time.

The enclosed list mentions the prices which do not exactly correspond to the estimate sent you previously. The main reason is that I had to borrow some equipment and had to pay high rent for it.

I thank you and wish you success with the exhibition.

Sincerely, Harry Bertola
